

Statistics Solutions acknowledges that we may have access to confidential and proprietary information (proposals, data files, transcripts, etc.), in which you may make available to us. In return, Statistics Solutions agrees not to disclose or disseminate the confidential information, nor correspondence without your expressed prior written consent.

All confidential information is kept on a secure hard drive, and confidential written information is kept in a locked filing cabinet.

The term "confidential information" shall not include such information as is or becomes part of the public domain through no action or admission of Statistics Solutions, or which becomes available to Statistics Solutions from third parties without acknowledgement by Statistics Solutions.

Best regards,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "James Lani, Ph.D.".

James Lani, Ph.D.
Founder/CEO
Statistics Solutions