Specifically meant for children and adolescents, the Eyberg Child Behavior Inventory evaluates parental report of behavioral problems. The scale targets the number of behavioral problems and the frequency of their occurrence.

Participants of the instrument are asked to respond to 36 items using a Likert scale. Approximately 5 minutes is required for completion and another 5 minutes to score. The instrument is currently available in a wide range of languages: Chinese, English, German, Japanese, Korean, Lebanese, Norwegian, Russian, Spanish, Swedish.
